GREENVILLE, S. C., Oct. 3.—
(P)—A decision to defer passing sentence upon defendants pleading guilty to prohibition law violations until late in November—after expected final action on repeal of the 18th amendment—was announced by Judge H. H. Watkins in federal court here today.

In making his announcement, Judge Watkins did not announce what his attitude toward the defendants would be in case the 18th

Appeal to Roosevelt Plan- 5 Per Cent Slash To Mean

Georgia failed Tuesday in another attempt to obtain its share of the huge public works fund and members of the state public works advisory commission reaffirmed their intention to lay the entire situation before President Roosevelt at the earliest possible date.

The failure came when Assistant Secretary of the Treasury L. W. Robert, of Atlanta, a member of the public works board, brought the matter up at Tuesday's session of the board only to meet the same refusal which other Georgians have obtained. Secretary Ickes, the public works administrator, indicated that he felt that Georgia should amend that section of the constitution which limits the boarding powers of the state and its counties and municipalities, or that the constitutionality of the provision might be tested. He also laid emphasis on the fact although cities and counties are authorized to borrow up to 7 per cent of their assessed valuation by bond issues no move has been made in any political subdivision for such action.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3.—(P)—
Thirty-five men, workers on a county unemployment relief project, and possibly 20 more, died late today in a box-like canyon, turned into a flaming inferno apparently by a cigaret carelessly tossed into a tinder of brush by one of their number.

Between 150 and 200 other men were injured, some of them probably fatally. Most of them were burned and a number suffered fractures of arms and legs and the backs of a few were broken as they fell in a frantic flight to safety.

The charred bodies of 35, their identity erased by the flames, were taken to a temporary morgue, and fire officials, advised that others were in the area, expressed fear possibly 20 additional men had been cremated.

Coroner Frank Nance said he had been told 18 more bodies had been found in another section of the canyon but he had not been able to confirm the report.

The tragedy, "hell broken loose" as one smoke-blackened survivor described the scene of horror, occurred in the eastern end of the low-lying Santa Monica mountains in a city area known as Griffith park, Los Angeles' largest recreational center.

Shortly before 4 p. m. someone noticed fire had started in the chapararal-covered sides of Mineral Wells canyon and a group of men, employed in the area on road projects, was sent down the steep canyon to extinguish it.

As they threaded their way through the thick brush, dry as kindling wood from a near-record heat wave of recent days, one among the inexperienced firefighters saw the danger of becoming trapped.

big crowds that flocked to the fair grounds Tuesday indicated that this will be the most successful fair held here in half a score years and unless tornadoes or hurricanes come the officials believe the show will continue to draw capacity crowds throughout the week. The horse show Tuesday was the special added attraction and it drew to the grand stand a large crowd, including leading citizens throughout Georgia.

crowd, including leading citizens throughout Georgia.

People like the fair this year because there is something worth-while to be seen and to be done in all parts of the grounds at all times, according to President Mike Benton, of the Southeastern Fair Association. In each of the three main buildings a special free show is offered, a great series of free attractions is offered in front of the grand stand, both day and night, while the Royal American Shows, with the 20 paid attractions and the 14 rides brings more entertainment novelties than have ever been brought here before by a similar attraction.

Stock Show Popular.

The enormous exhibit of live stock, offered here for the first time in several years, is attracting wide interest among the farmers as well as the general public. Judging began Tuesday in the poultry show, which is one of the largest ever offered here.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(P)—A Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay, one British mission which is seeking to of the members of the mission." canreduce the $9,658,695,000 war debt cellation might come in but it would go out again just as quickly." owed to the United States arrived in New York from London today expressing the belief that there would not be any cancellation of the obligation. "From the information I get about the feeling in the United States," said adviser to the British government. The third member is T. K. Bewley, treasury official who has been made special financial attache at the British embassy at Washington.

Sir Ronald, interviewed by newspapermen, said he wished it emphasized that the British debt to the United States represents only actual war expenditures.

The negotiations which the Britons will carry on at Washington are considered of especial importance in view of the fact that they may create a precedent for dealing with other debtor nations.

The British ambassador said concerning the depression in his own country that "the ship is a little low in the water but well battened down." He reported that the British unemployment figures had diminished 17 per cent since January.

On Becember 15 an installment on the British debt of $117,670,765.05 will become due. Britain met all installments in full until the last due date, June 15, when she made a "t ken" payment of $10,000,000 in silver.

The mayor's power in the aldermanic board was cut materially through the ballot box reverses. His friends blamed the general apathy of voters for the defeat and also the timidity of economy candidates to have the administration throw the full strength of its support behind them.

Key has the campaigning ability which many of the candidates lacked. He also knows how to make an appeal to the public and to arouse interest. Those qualities many of the aspirants for the offices failed to possess and they failed to recognize their importance in the face of an irate group of ousted employes, dropped from pay rolls when the economy ax was wielded, and also present employes whose salaries were slashed to keep expenditures within receipts. Anti-administration aldermen named in the regular primary were John F. Scott, who defeated Dr. I. H. Etheridge, second; J. Sid Tiller, victorious over James E. Jackson, third ward;

Friends Win in Council.

Key friends were returned for the most part in the councilmanic races, but they lost every aldermanic contest.

Observers said Tuesday that nomination of Hailey leaves Key only four sure votes on his economy measures of the 13 members of the aldermanic board. He will have a majority of council, however, and unusual situations can occur next year if the council insists on economy in the municipal budget and the aldermanic board declines to approve cuts.

Key undoubtedly will insist on a continuation of the policy he has pursued in the past, and his council will back him. It remains to be seen how the two bodies, with diverse conceptions of how the city should be run, will function.

ber of Commerce at 3:30 o'clock
Thursday afternoon to form a plan for receiving and handling complaints of alleged violations of the Blue Eagle pledge, according to announcement Tuesday by Lee Ashcraft, who was unanimously elected as chairman of the compliance board.

The personnel of the club in addition to Mr. Ashcraft is: J. A. Harper, employe in industry; Ralph Boynton, employer in trade; Ferd M.

Styled as an organization meeting, the compliance committee will assemble to study complaints already received and to lay plans for regular meetings at which complaints will be received. Mr. Ashcraft pointed out that all complaints must be submitted as facts and not based on rumor and that the identity of all with a grievance would be held confidential.

FAMOUS WAR ACE TO INSPECT PLANE FOR NIGHT FLYING

Official inspection of the first airplane in the world to be equipped with berths for night travel will be made by Captain Edward V. Rickenbacker in the Eastern Air Transport shops at Candler field today and a report will be made to a group of aviation officials at a dinner at the Biltmore hotel at 7 o'clock tonight, according to announcement by the air line.

Captain Rickenbacker, outstanding American ace in the World War and now an official of North American Aviation, was scheduled to arrive at 5:20 o'clock this morning on a night flight from New York. He will spend the day checking the new equipment which was constructed and installed at Candler field.

The new berths will be placed in the huge Condor ship, which will fly between Atlanta and New York. Announcement concerning the date of the initial flight with the berth-equipped ship is expected from Rickenbacker at the dinner tonight.

In Panama we have much the same agricultural problem you face in Georgia, he coutinued. "That is, we have one major money crop. Where you have cotton as a major crop we have bananas. If something happens to our banana crop the disaster is as great as if the boll weevil or some other pest destroyed your cotton crop. We are glad to come here and get Georgia ideas on agriculture and we assure you that we shall do all we can to stimulate the use of Georgia products in our country. I am much impressed with the high quality of the farm exhibits I have seen here. The Four H idea of equal development of head, heart, hands and health is assuredly a good one and one that can be used in any country."

Mrs. Arias Interested.

Mrs. Arias, who accompanied her husband to the fair, was much inter-ested in the work of the boys' farm

"I feel that this same thing should be done for the girls," she said. "I have read that you are doing something in this line in a school at Tifton. I believe the girls should be trained to make regular farm homes and to improve these homes just as the boys are trained to improve farm conditions."

Here is a real description of science, as seen by thousands of visitors to the Southeastern Fair. It took scientific breeding of a high order to produce the animals shown at the top. A champion Hereford bull, owned and exhibited by Williams & Burkett, of Newbern, Tenn., is pictured at the left. Miss Peggy Corbbitt is admiring the animal. Miss June Summer (at right) obviously is proud of a red Duroc hog entered from Atlanta. Some daring feats of horsemanship by army officers and by Atlanta riders brought the crowds to their feet at both performances Tuesday. Some dangerous jumps were attempted and many of them performed. One child rider electrified the crowd by taking jumps which adult riders previously had failed to make.

The fireworks display brought the

The presidential agents put drama aplenty into the Chicago journey. At one time they recommended that the president fly out there. Later they decided that would probably be overdoing it. Instead, they started an inside argument about whether he should go or not. Then they passed out information that all his advisers told him to stay home. They were afraid of what would happen to him, bearding the soldiers in their dugout.

The party under Dr. Eddy's leadership split into four groups, he writes in the Guardian, and set out to search for famine. Without resolutions

But where did they go? Everybody in Russia admits that conditions in the Ukraine and the North Caucasus were bad last winter. Many will go further and say that they were terri-ble. Right in the same Novo-Moskov-skaya hotel a man came to me, an old revolutionary, a trusted servant of the revolutionary, a trusted servant of the seviet government, who told me, when my room had been bolted and locked (he insisted on this, not I) that millions had died of starvation last winter and this spring. I could give his name here, but that would be the end of him so I won!

That was the first intimation I had that something was seriously amiss in the Ukraine. Not an enemy, not a the Ukraine. Not an enemy, not a oreign spy or an ex-bourgeois, a real bolshevik came to tell me.

And he replied: "Eighty per cent of the members of the communist party are disgusted with Stalin's policy, but they dare not open their mouths. The first who protests is mouths. The first who protests is thrown out, his food-card is taken away and he is left to starve. For a group to protest leads to the fate of the Trotskyists, exile and prison. What are we to do? The situation is terrible. I am keeping my relatives in the North Caucasus alive with packages of food. I have seen corpses lying in the streets of the village of Krumenchuk. All the inhabitants of that place have either died of hunger or they have fled."

TOKYO, Oct. 3.—(P)—The foreign office disclosed today that the Japanese embassy at Moscow is pressing vigorously for cancellation of Vladivostok port regulations which an official spokesman said he believed were designed to hide the progress of military works converting Vladivostok into a formidable war base.

Japan contends that the regulations, enforced since August 8, especially the requirement that all foreign vessels entering Vladivostok shall be placed in the command of a soviet pilot, unwarrantedly interferes with trade communications.

Moreover, the official spokesman said, the measure obviously is anti-Japanese because Japanese vessels are the only alien craft calling regularly at Vladivostok.

The budget of the department of agriculture was submitted to the governor by Commissioner Adams several days ago. It showed that 41 of the department's 115 employes were being dismissed in order that the department might live within its budget for the remainder of the year.

It was said that before the latest slash the department still had $45,000 of its $225,000 appropriation in the treasury, but it was necessary to pay out $26,000 of this for past due and current office expenses, including light, heat, telephones and equipment, leaving only $19,000 for the salaries of personnel. New Cut is Minimum.

State Auditor Tom Wisdom, who is assistant director of the budget, explained that the additional 5 per cent reduction on the yearly appropriations was the minimum which could be ordered at this time.

"Last year we collected about $2.700.000 during the last three months is amount this year the 30 per cent total will be all the cuts we will need."

Mr. Wisdom said. "However, if collections continue to fall off as they have been it will be necessary to order a further cut."

Mr. Wisdom explained that he would be better able to fix the amount to be collected by November 1 and new instructions would go to the department heads on that date.

The state's appropriations for 1933 totaled about $11,000,000 at the beginning of the year.

By JAMES P. SELVAGE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(P)—
Faced by stubborn opposition to some major policies, the old guard of the American Federation of Labor tonight poised itself confidently for the expected convention floor fight developing within the resolutions committee.

The appearance of Secretary Frances Perkins and Administrator Hugh Johnson, of the NRA, before the convention was counted upon to taper off the criticism of organized labor's spokesmen in the councils of the recovery administration.

spokesmen in the councils of the recovery administration.

Looking beyond that, high officials of the federation expressed confidence they had the votes, both within the resolutions committee and among the delegates generally, to carry through the program of William Green, the president.

A possible interruption of the placidity of the convention was avoided at today by a morning recess that was signed by Roy Robert, secretary of the club, and mailed to the membership and all who join will be entertained at a special showing of a full-length dog picture at the Fox theater at 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

Purpose of Week.

The purpose of the week is to inculate in the hearts of people a higher regard for the dog, "man's best friend." Children who join the Dog Lovers' Club are asked to take a pledge to be kind to animals.

To close the week, the Atlanta Kennel Club will hold a special sanctioned show for pure-bred dogs which have not won a first prize in an American Kennel Club exhibition. Several trophies and ribbons will be awarded by Hal Lindsey and L. F. Shuler, official judges.

Doors to the show will open at 8 o'clock Saturday night at 306 Peach tree street, but entries must be in before 7:30 o'clock to be eligible for prizes, according to Miss Catherine Erwin, president of the Atlanta Kennel Club.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 3.—(P)—A grand jury which heard only three witnesses today returned a quick indictment of first degree murder against Louis Kenneth Neu, 28-year-old former sailor and cabaret croner, for the hotel slaying of Sheffield Clark Sr., prominent businessman of Nashville, Tenn.

Neu, whose home is in Savannah, Ga., was arrested recently in Jersey City, where he confessed that he robbed and slugged Clark to death in the Hotel Jung here on the night of September 17, just a week after he had similarly slain Lawrence Shead, Paterson, N. J., theater manager.

On an agreement between the Jersey and Louisiana governors, Neu was returned here to stand trial for Clark's death with the understanding that if he were not capitally convicted he would be sent back to New Jersey to face the Shead slaying charge.

to be issued Thursday by the Georgia public service commission, reports at the capitol Tuesday said.

It could not be learned just what reduction is to be ordered. At the hearing now in progress the telephone company introduced evidence tending to show that the actual cost of the monophone is about 35 cents a month but the commission reported evidence showing that the charge in New York state is 15 cents a month and in Ohio and other states it is 25 cents a month. A figure somewhere in that range is expected to be set by the Georgia commission. A charge of 50 cents a month is now made in Georgia.

Thomas Barton Baird, state mana-ger for the company, was questioned by Assistant Attorney-General John Te Goree concerning the base rate area plan. In certain localities, the company has established what is known as base rate areas, in which subscribers are given a more advansubscribers are given a more advan-tageous rate than subscribers living outside the areas. For telephone servjee outside of such areas, a mileage cost is added to take care of addi-tional line extensions to serve such customers. Baird said investigations into base rate areas were being made now in Smyrna, Americus and Gaines-

"Why were these investigations or-dered?" asked Goree.

"Well, we've been hard after business during recent years, and every-where we think there is a possibility of developing business, we try to do it," said Baird.

"Isn't it true that there have been no changes made in these base rate areas in 10 years?" asked Goree. "No, that isn't correct," Baird said.
"There have been changes, and the commission has been advised of them."

Baird said that at conferences held at various times with divisional managers of the company in Georgia, means of increasing the company's business were discussed, and that the base rate area question had some up for comment frequently in these con-

160,000 Marchers Take Part

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—(P)—Darsling in flashing color, awe-inspiring in magnitude, the American Legion marched down broad Michigan boulevard today.

For 10 unbroken hours, 160,000 men and women, united in common memory, strode in meticulous formation between walls of spectators, massed solidly shoulder to shoulder, and scores deep on both sides of the four-mile line of march.

There has been nothing like this parade of the Legion at its fifteenth annual convention, officials declared. It likewise was unrivaled in this city's century of history.

It exceeded in numbers, scope and color, and Chicago spilled out so many thousands to witness it that an estimate of the total was difficult.

The parade started shortly after 10 o'clock from the city's near north side and paced down the avenue to Soldier's field in Grant's park. As evening fell the platoons were still passing the judges' stand.

A perfect day of brilliant sunshine contributed to the glory of the spectacle. Silvery and copper helmets gleamed and state, national and Legion flags shone all day long as the varied hued groups—with the national colors, red, white and blue pecdominating—fell into line. Legion posts and auxillaries from every state and nine foreign countries.

The veterans had the right-of-way. Traffic detoured through other streets of the total was difficult.

The officer said his companions wished to save the country from American intervention.

The army was still trying to check the number of yesterday's casualties. An independent check showed 53 dead and approximately 200 wounded. Estimatea ranged as high as 100 killed. Ten officers were among those buried tonight. Four were student radicals and the rest soldiers. Eighteen black hearses carried the bodies through wind whipped streets to the burial grounds. The soldier dead were brought from Camp Colombia, preceded by a band. Infantrymen marched alongside.

ETHERIDGE GIVEN NO BILL BY JURY

Commissioner Cleared of Bribery Charges in De Jarnette Matter.

Fulton county grand jury late Tuesday refused to indict Paul S. Etheridge, of the Fulton county commission on charges of bribery involving his official acts. The action was believed to have ended the county probe in so far as the present grand jury is concerned.

The grand jury heard witnesses in support of charges that Commissioner Etheridge received $2.837.95 as a bribe for which he used his influence to prevent collection of $7,400 owed to the county by the DeJarnette Supply Company for cement sacks.

C. F. Palmer, chairman of a citizens' commission, named geveral zens' commission, named several months ago to conduct a probe of county affairs, spent about 45 min-utes during the afternoon in the grand jury room. C. C. Whitaker, another county affairs, spent about 45 minutes during the afternoon in the grand jury room. C. C. Whitaker, another member of the commission, was in the witness room, but did not go into the grand jury room, it was said.

The grand jury returned a no bill after studying testimony in support of two counts in a bill of indictment.

The action followed a county probe begun several months ago, in which chearges were made against several members and a former member of the county board. The citizens' commission had said it had evidence to indict one or more members for bribery and malfeasance and misfeasance in office. Etheridge greeted the action with an assertion that no official act of his has ever been anything but honest.

"No official act of mine has ever been dishonest, but on the contrary every one has been for the best interest of the citizens of Fulton county," Etheridge said. "I have been zealous in my service to the public, which honored me and placed its confidence in me. I welcomed the grand jury probe, and am gratified that it took the action it did in refuting the flimsy and unfounded charges which were made against me."

Dewey Roper, farmer, living on the Gordon plantation, near Alpharetta, was indicted Tuesday by the grand jury on charges of murder. He is charged with having slain Russ Strickland, negro, in a row over cows.

Probe of alleged election frauds committed in the September 20 primary was suspended Tuesday by the grand jury, but will be resumed when it meets again Friday, it was indicated.

PRICE SURVEY SHOWS INCREASE IN TEXTILES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(P)—The retail price of four typical textiles, Dr. Fred C. Howe, consumers' counsel of the farm administration, said Monday, showed little change during the week ending September 13, on the basis of reports from stores in 22 cities.

This, he said, was in contrast to the substantial increase noted between August 2 and September 6 on the goods chosen—sheets, work shirts, overalls and unbleached muslin. The average price changes from August 2 to September 13 were: Sheets, from $1.06 to $1.25; work shirts, 74 cents to 85 cents; overalls, $1.18 to $1.42, and unbreached muslin $1.18 to $1.42, and unbreached muslin per yard, 10 cents to 13 cents.

Textile manufacturers have insisted that the processing tax on cotton, which went into effect August 2, and the increase in wages under the cotton textile code, in operation since July 17, necessitated the price increase in their goods.

"How much these added expenses were responsible for the increase in retail prices cannot be stated," Dr. Howe said. "Retail merchants seem to have stocked up well before they went into effect.

went into effect.

"In any case, the processing or floor tax, represented a small part of the price to the consumer on September 13. In the case of the "Slx99" sheets, it amounted to less than 8 cents; on work shirts, 31-2 cents; on overalls, 81-4 cents; on unbleached muslin, just a trifle over 1 cent."

"We have analyzed the manufacturers' profit margins and overhead of ers' profit margins and overhead of 17 types of cotton goods since March 8," he said, "and find that they have increased on the average much more than material or labor costs have ad-vanced."

SLIM DECREASE NOTED IN GROSS PUBLIC DEBT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(P)—The nation's gross public debt fell off $47,-760,355 during September, standing at $23,050,754,554 when the treasury's books were closed for the month.

To offset this, however, there was a decline of $53,960,609 in the net balance in the general fund, producing an increase for the month of $6,-200,353 in the net public debt.

For the first quarter of the fiscal year, which began July 1, the treasury's figures showed an advance in the gross debt of $512,080,944 and of $228,732,451 in the net public debt.

As compared with the corresponding three months of 1932, receipts showed an advance from $437,151,306 to $672,001,525.

The bulk of the gain lay in a rise in miscellaneous internal revenue from $169,826,081 to $362,150,005. Income tax collections declined from $174,-148,114 to $163,169,846.

Ordinary general expenditures dropped from $289,099,271 to $614,-366,458 while emergency expenditures, related to the recovery program, climbed from $280,369,304 (the 1932 figure all went to the R. F. C.) to $295,128,150.

On September 30, 1932, the deficit for the fiscal year stood at $682,317,-

Federal Courts Dispose of Varied Litigation on Recovery Plan Points.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(UP)—
Three court decisions upholding administration activities were halled by officials tonight as important victories for the Roosevelt program.

The constitutionality of the agricultural adjustment act was upheld by Federal Judge Adolphus F. St. Sure in San Francisco in an injunction proceeding brought by the AAA to prevent violations of the Californa peach agreement. The decision established constitutionality of the licensing provisions of the act, previously upheld in other districts in milk cases, Jerome N. Frank AAA general counsel, said.

The emergency interior department order prohibiting interstate shipment of "hot oil" produced in violation of state restrictions was upheld in federal court in Tyler, Texas, in a decision which Oil Administrator and Interior Secretary Ickes called "another sweepit upholding of the national recovery act."

The federal power commission won what is called "a victory which will facilitate the administration's program for the national development of power resources," when the United States circuit court of appeals, fourth circuit, ordered dismissal of a test suit brought against members of the commission by the Appalachian file-tric Power Company. The company held, in what has come to be known as the "New river case," that the dred men and women arenic stars, including scores of acts new to America, appear on the gigantic Ringling Brothers' Golden Jubilee Anniversary program of the great combined circus this season.

Both afternoon and night performances will be given in Atlanta on October 9, at the Highland Avenue grounds.

The series of biweekly French programs for the fall quarter at Emory University will open Thursday. October 5, at 3 o'clock in room 103 in the theology building on the campus. These programs are open to the students and the public and will alternate with the meetings of the Alliance Francaise of Atlanta on alternate Thursdays. The French people of Atlanta and members of the alliance cooperate in making these programs attractive and instructive.

The principal talk of the first meeting will be given by Professor Charles R. Hart, of the department of romance languages, who will speak on his travels in New England during the summer and his stay in and around Middlebury and the French school there. This will be related to the Institut Francais at Emory, which was inaugurated during the past summer. Music and short features will be added to the program. Those interested in French are invited to be present.

bers of the sorority, of tokens of esteem and thanks from the alumnae for the outstanding work Miss Stephens and Miss McKesney have done in organizing the present chapter.

The sorority meetings, which will be held twice monthly, will consist of entertaining literary and musical features. The sorority numbers among its members some of the outstanding talent of the student body and promises to surpass former years in this respect, so that the programs will be of unusual interest, and the sorority extends to friends of the college, as well as to alumnae members, cordial invitation to attend any and all meetings. Miss Stephens announces that the sorority is planning one of the biggest years in its history, socially, athletically and scholastically, and that every indication points to the most successful year that the sorority has ever enjoyed. Day student members have not yet been infitiated, and as soon as the roll of the present chapter is completed, a list of the new members will be carried in a future announcement.

Miss Reeples Weds Mr. Parham At Druid Hills Methodist Church

The marriage of Miss Helen Peeples and Chester Parham Jr. was impressively solemnized Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock, at Druid Hills Methodist church. The ceremony was performed by Dr. John Branden Peters, pastor of the church before a fashionable assemblage of relatives and friends. The altar was banked with palms and ferns, and decorated with seven-branched candelabra holding unshaded tapers, being starred in the center with a basket holding white dahlias.

Joseph Ragan, the organist rendered an appropriate musical program preceding the entrance of the bridal party and the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was played for the processional. During the ceremony "Prayer," by Massenet, was played, and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was used for the recessional.

Mrs. G. E. Maddox, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Misses LaVerne Parham, Helen Marston, Frances Griffin and Frances Spinks were bridesmaids. Mrs. Maddox was gowned in gold-colored satin, the skirt ending in a short train, gold point de sprit forming the yoke and extending in a cape effect across the shoulders, and the bodice cut in a deep "y" in the back. She carried a bouquet of yellow dahlias tied with matching ribbon. The bridesmaids costumes were of yellow satin, madel like that of the matron of honor, and they carried bouquet of yellow satin, madel like that of the matron of honor, and they carried bouquets of yellow dahlias tied with yellow ribbon.

Friendly Counsel BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submit-ted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitu-tion.

Dear Miss Chatfield: My wife and have never had a quarrel in the first ear of our married life. But there I have never had a quarrel in the litstyear of our married life. But there is one thing that worries me greatly: I am unaffectionate and undemonstrative by nature. I dislike to kiss anybody on the lips and prefer to prove my love by doing the things that make my dear ones happy rather than by expressing my love in words. This is due to my natural reserve, I suppose. Because I don't kiss my wife every time I come in the house and because I am not forever telling her sweet nothings, she says I don't love her. This is not true. I have never loved any other woman as I love her. When the baby came she remarked that she expected to lavish her love on him and would never look to me for any sort of expression of affection. This doesn't augur well for the future of our family. Can we go through life with these petty arguments over love and not come to grief? W. J. T.

Answer: You have already come to grief, young man, and refusal to see it, or to acknowledge it, doesn't assuage the grief. It is the wife who suffers now but when your son is older and she and he have formed a close corporation into which you cannot "limmy" your way, then it is you who will suffer. Recently a story was published that dealt with a problem exactly like yours. A reserved and undemonstrative man starved his wife for affection. A son was born to them and the mother did what your wife is threatening to do; she lavished her love on the child and the husband was squeezed out of the relationship. The son, when he reached maturity, seeing what his father had done to the spirit of his mother, was resentful toward his father and couldn't even be natural with him, much less filial. He felt 1r that father a sort of contemptuous pity but that was the only emotion elicted by his parent.

Any love worth the name is sacrificial. Suppose it does bore you to tell your wife you love her. If this declaration is necessary to her happiness, then you should make it, not occasionally, but constantly. Perhaps you do prefer to express your affection in some other way than in caresses but who are you trying to please, yourself, or your wife? Suppose you do dislike to kiss a person on the lips, you won't be poisoned by doing it occasionally. There is something radically wrong with the love a man feels for his wife when it doesn't carry conviction with it.

There is nothing any man can do to prove his love for his wife, to her satisfaction at least, that is comparable to the pat on the shoulder, the kiss on the brow, accompanied by the old, old refrain: "I love you, my dear."

Giants Win Opener Behind Great Pitching of Carl Hubbell

Dorothy Kirby's 82 Is Severe Blow to Mere Malesl

It appears that the recent victory of Miss Dorothy Kirby, the 13-year-old state golf champion of Georgia, has brought about more than a little sorrow in a great many of our homes.

Let me hasten to say that it was not the actual victory which brought this woe and sorrow. It was simply that she had written the quod erat demonstrandum to what a lot of our better minds had been thinking about

It was shortly after she had shot her 82 to win 2 up over Miss Margaret Maddox, a national tournament competitor, that a middle-aged gentleman, clad in a new pair of golf bloomers and carrying a golf bag weighted with numerous and expensive clubs, put down the bag. He was through.

"I am," he said emphatically, "three times 13 years of age and more. I have played this game for more than 13 years. I was playing it before this child was born. And I cannot yet shoot an 82."

And that same thought has entered other minds. Any number of gentlemen have wondered at the 82 fired at the East Lake course by the slim 13-year-old girl who had been ill for a month and entered the tournament just to get out

As they swing, with ferocity and with strength and get a topped shot or one into the rough, they recall the 13-year-old girl who bangs them down the middle. And they wonder if life is really worth while after all.

SHE WON 2 AND 1 ON FRIDAY NIGHT.

Howard Beckett, the Capital City club professional who taught Dorothy Kirby her golf, revealed that the match was won 2 and 1 on Friday night.

Beckett was ill and his pupil came over to see him. They played the match of the next day hole by hole. And by dint of good figuring they had a 2 and 1 victory.

And the next day she won 2 up.
"I taught her the swing," said Beckett, "so that she will not have to change it. She had been sick and had not even practiced for 30 days. And yet when she began to play she had her swing. It did not vary a half inch all week.

I judge from talking with professionals that the swing is really one's game; that if one has the swing all else will come to him. The idea is to get the swing. And get it early.

Being an old-fashioned sort of a man, believing in calomel, the doctrine of predestination and the natural superiority of the male sex, I was early discouraged about golf.

It was some years ago that Marion Turpie Lake, then Miss Marion Turpie, gave your correspondent an old-fashioned shellacking on the Belle Meade course at Nashville, winning 18 out of 18 holes. This seemed rather conclusive and rather destructive criticism of the theory of the natural superiority

The thing is to learn the swing and learn it early. Miss Kirby is to play in the national women's tournament next year and will probably qualify.

And as long as she is playing golf I will think of the middle-aged man in his new bloomers and with his new golf sticks who said, "I am three times 13 years old and can I shoot an 82? I cannot."

This is the day of the great NRA dog show.

Fifty thousand citizens will march their dogs through the eets today in honor of the courage and ideas of the man at White House.

There has never been such a worthwhile dog show since the days when all the dogs in the world seemed to be marching with France as the objective. This was when the dogs of war had been loosed. The dogs of your old partner will be on exhibition in the parade today. They bark after a march of several blocks. They have been worn down from climbing into press boxes and from standing around listening to football coaches. But the dogs of McGill will march today. They will be paired with the dogs of Mr. Pat Hammond, the M. E.

It is going to be a tough day on the dogs of our citizens. The governor has ordered all participants to walk. There will he dogs in the parade getting their first exercise in years. And the barking should be tremendous.

A great idea—the NRA dog show. Listen for my dogs. They bark very loudly, after six or seven blocks.

A MOTTO MAY WIN SERIES.

It would be more than passing strange were a motto to win the World Series of 1933.

That is to say the motto of the New York Giants which is, "They can't beat us!" It has been suggested that the Giants are somewhat of a mystery team and that they won the National league pennant with a motto and one pitcher. It was pointed out that when John McGraw quit the Giants were left without any master mind, without any strategy and without any deep thinker. And they had no great hitters or fielders. And that obviously a team without those factors could not win a pennant. Yet the Giants won the pennant. And yesterday the Giants won the first game of the World Series.

They used Carl Hubbell, who has been mentioned as the Giants' baseball team, in the Tuesday game. And this leaves them only the motto, "They can't beat us."

It is a very strange World Series that the two boy managers are conducting. Had some hard-working fiction writer sat himself down last winter and written a story including the events which have transpired in the two major leagues and sent it off to some editor it would have come back post haste as the rankest sort of fiction, outdoing Alger and Henty.

Because he would have had a story about two young fellows replacing veteran managers in the major leagues and bringing their teams on through the ordinary vicissitudes of the schedule and on into the World Series. It would have been a lot of what the boys refer to very crassly as boloney. Because it would have had all about Blondy Ryan's wire to the slumping Giants in which he said, "They can't beat us," and the inspiring effect on the Giants.

Yes, the editor would have pitched such fiction out

And yet that is exactly what happened. The two boy managers are now playing in the World Series. And the one with a motto and one pitcher is one up in the series. It is all very strange. The Washington Senators have the hetter ball club but they seem to lack a motto. And to be without a motto is unthinkable. Unless Joe Cronin can get himself a motto such as the French had at Verdun and the Giants have at New York the cause seems hopeless.

HUBBELL SHUT AT WASHINGTON

Fans' Enthusiasm Curbed by Ace's Screw Ball in Opener.

By John F. Chester.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 .- (AP)-A Giant named Hubbell held a checkvalve upon the enthusiasm of seriesminded Washington baseball fans today in the clusters that mushroomed before the scoreboards.

There were varying expressions of woe as the flickering lights swept across the boards to tell of the downfall of the Senators.

Each time, however, enthusiasm appeared on the verge of kindling apathy into applause, the Hubbell crewball put out the blaze.

The more rabid of the team's followers here apparently took some hope from the uprisings of the Senators in the eighth and ninth innings, and from several came the expressed belief that "We'll get to him next

Washington as a whole, however despite the background of a fine display of World Series frenzy in its last pennant-winning years of 1924 and 1925, seemed too much engrossed in other affairs to list the success or failure of the Senators as of para-mount importance.

The crowds about the scoreboards had little to cheer about during the early innings of today's opening game, but even the groans that attended the piling up of the Giants' four runs were not loud enough to be heard a block away.

Those circulating through the loose-ly packed crowds heard mostly such quiet comments as "The boys are not so hot today," or "This Hubbell cer-tainly must have something."

The first loud outbreak of cheer ing and applause came in the eighth, when the Giant left-hander walked two men in a row. It stilled quickly as Hubbell tightened.

Again in the ninth the crowds awakened. There was cheering almost approaching the 1924 brand—when the whole downtown section echoed with noise at each rise in the Senators' shapes but the six and the Senators' shapes with the six and the senators' shapes with the senators' shapes with the six and the senators' shapes with the senators with the tors' chances—but again Hubbell cut enthusiasm short.

"A home run would do it."

"A home run would do it."
"Come on, you Schulte."
"We'll win this one yet."
The cries were louder as two and then three Nationals were portrayed on the basepaths. But when Hubbell struck out Ossie Bluege and caused Luke Sewell to hit an easy infield out to end the inning, the crowds dispersed with little more than a buzz of comment.

If the local fans were slow to en-It the local fans were slow to enthusiasm, however, there was at least one foreigner, resident in Washington, who showed keen interest. Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, arriving in the late afternoon, put a question to newspapermen before they could ask him one.

"Who won the game?" he asked.

As the two left the ring fists began to fly between them, and police were called to quell the disturbance. Both wrestlers had bodyguards in their dressing rooms.

O'Shocker won the first fall in 22 minutes with a body slam. Speer came back to square the count with a series of flying tackles in seven min-utes. Action was plentiful before the match was awarded to O'Shocker, both in and out of the ring.

In the semi-windup, Casey Berger. of California, and Joe Devito, of Missouri, wrestled to a draw. Each trifle goofy, the spectacle almost overshadows that of the ball game itself.

Every seat in the stadium was taken by game time and some fans were sitting in the aisles. Only one man in the entire crowd seemed to be completely unconcerned about the doings.

He sat in Section 15. He had a very red face, resembling a brisket of corned beef and he stared fixedly at a point about 15 feet in the air directly over the pitcher's box. At frequent intervals he would exclaim in a fuzzy voice: "Hit me down for double! Hit me down for double! Hit me down for double! Hit me down for double! Several customers in the immediate vicinity expressed a sincere desire to hit him down for double, but the project was never carried out. Instead, the man was.

confusion from the beginning. With more than 400 garrulous experts and another hundred gate crashers to take care of, the place resembled a madhouse during a full moon. John McGraw, who used to manage the Giants, spent 20 minutes trying to find a chair in which to rest his weary bones and finally found haven when a copy carrier yielded his seat in the press coop. It was so crowded a watch couldn't tick.

The enthusiasm of the mob began The enthusiasm of the mob began before the game started and reached crescendo when Melvin Ott, from Gretna, La., banged his homer. The folks began throwing their hats and programs onto the field and the clankety-clank of the cowbells could have been heard at the Bronx county courthouse, just visible on the horizon.

cankety-clark of the cowells county have been heard at the Bronx county courthouse, just visible on the horizon. Hubbell struck out so many Senators that the score sheets looked like a catalog of Ku Klux insignia. The letter "K" being the scorekeeper's sign for a whiff. Nobody has ever successfully explained just why this should be. Walter Trumbull, sitting in the press box, said the origin of the "K" probably dates back to the days of Leon K. Ames, a Giant pitcher in the days of Matty.

HIT ONE BALL.

"Yes," said Trumbull, "they must have named it after his middle initial. He never hit but one ball in his life and that was the hardest lick I've ever seen. He just shut his eyes, let go and a ball tore down three flagpoles before ripping through the window of a saloon two and a half blocks away.

Trumbull added that the letter "K" in itself is a symbol for a bat and a broken reed, so that it is no more than fitting that it should be used to indicate a strikeout.

The saddest person of the day was Pitcher Stewart, who was yanked in the third inning. He presented a picture of utter wee and desolation as he walked toward the dugout.

Hubbell's Foes Never Saw Ball, McLemore Says By Henry McLemore. NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(UP)— Blazing them down the slot with all the speed and rhythm of the past m as te rs, lean, lanky, hungry-looking Carl Hubbell pitched the New York Giants to a 4-to-2 victory over the selection and out and down—to Senatorial bats. That was the opening salute—the deadly thrust that has no parallel in World Series history.

Each in turn he struck down as if he had wielded a sword of Milan steel. That first chapter which Hubbell threw at the Senators told most of the story. When you can strike out Myer, Goslin and Manush in order, you have something more than a prayer and a glove. As Hubbell tossed his old mitt aside and walked from the box, the stands were rocking from the vocalistic tribute he had earned.

But the drama of that first inning had only started. Moore, the first Giant up, rapped a ground ball straight at Charley Myer, Washington's second-baseman. It was an easy chance, but Myer blew the shot and fumbled.

GIANT FANS AGHAST.

The confident hilarity of the Giant crowd suddenly ended. Anything could happen now. Hubbell had crowded so much stuff on the ball for two hours that he now stood in deep danger down the stretch.

What is technically known as a boding hush fell upon the scene. One more hit could tie up the game—and maybe win it.

THE DECIDING SHOT.

Only Sewell was left—but still a hit could tie the score. Sewell rapped one to Travis Jackson and Old Stonewall with the lame knee whipped the ball to Terry for the closing out.

In the first game the Giants dominated the show. They outhit and outfielded and out-scored the Senators—and no rabid partisan could ask for fairer proof.

The two heroes of the first show were Carl Hubbell and Mel Ott, who contributed most of the defense and most of the scoring offense.

The first goat was Charley Myer. who kicked in with three errors and a fourth play that he mussed up. Most of the errors were scored by brilliant defensive stars—Myers. Critz and Ryan, all due to over-eagerness.

SCHUMACHER VS. GROWDER.

The Giants deserved their opening victory from every angle known to baseball—and it now remains to be seen what they can do in their second start, when young Schumacher is thrown against Alvin Crowder.

Washington can at least give three cheers that Carl Owen Hubbell; the Carthage Catapult, will take his snaky left arm back to the zoo for the next three days. They know at last how well the name of Ott rhymes with shot and hot.

Saturday Games To Show Strength of Championship Contenders.

The Georgia Tech-Kentucky and Georgia-Tulane contests Saturday will go a long way toward clearing up the mystery surrounding the strength of these Southeastern conference clubs.

Except possibly Tulane, all are rated stronger than a year ago. And Tulane is known to possess enough power to give any of them a battle even though the loss of Zimmerman and others may have reduced its effectiveness and brought about its defeat by Texas A. & M. in its opener.

With a heavy bunch of sophomores and perhaps the biggest line in the circuit, Kentucky was slated to go places this year. The game with Tech will be a crucial one for both clevens. Victory for either team may set the spark for a winning stretch while de-feat may pave the way for further

The Kentucky scouts, Bernie Shively and Monk Campbell, have a wholesome respect for the Tech team they saw whip Clemson, and they carried reports back to Head Coach Harry Gamage that the Tornado has a quick-driving line, a dangerous a quick-driving line, a dangerous nerial attack and a fleet set of backs.

Likewise, Scout Mack Tharpe, who saw Kentucky's go with Sewanee, told his chief, Bill Alexander, the Wild-cats possess a threatening passing of-fensive as well as a stout line to open oles for its backs.

Many seasons have passed since Georgia beat Tulane and the Bulldogs hope the tide will turn Saturday at Athens. Georgia showed much potential power against North Carolina State, and Coach Harry Mehre believes a victory over the Greenies may be possible.

These are the only inter-conference games of real importance, for Alabama and Tennessee are heavy choices over Mississippi and Mississippi State, over Mississippi and Mississippi State, respectively, and neither Florida nor its Sewanee rival are figured rugged enough to count in the title chase. However, Alabama may experience some difficulty with Ole Miss. With its major tilt with Tennessee a short distance away, Alabama likely will try to win from Mississippi on as little a show of hand as possible. And Mississippi may force the Crimsons to apply the presure, as was the case last year, to win.

From Uncle Charley Moran, the veteran umpire and football coach of Horse Cave, Ky., on down to the second-string catcher for both teams, this year's World Series is deeply dyed with the southern spirit. Uncle Charley, you will recall, is the famous coach who started the Centre Praying Colonels of Bo McMillan's and Red Roberts' time on the highroad to national fame with a win over Harvard. Varsity Baffled by Formations Used by Tulane Eleven.

By Al Smith.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 3.—Their first glimpse of Tulane plays in scrimmage today found the Georgia Bulldogs considerably baffled by the unbalanced line and the three formations which the Green Wave uses.

Glenn Johnson, Red Devil halfback, did a neat bit of running during the afternoon's scrimmage, which was wholly defensive as far as the varsity was concerned. Once, after catching a pass, he found himself bottled up by four varsity backs. He shifted from one foot to the other momentarily, then twisted and squirmed through the four and got loose for a touchdown.

Freed of injuries for the first time in more than two weeks, Coach Harry Mehre pushed his squad along fast during the day's workout. Two varsity teams scrimmaged the Red Devils and their Tulane plays, but before

Mel Ott Equals Big Series Record

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(2)—Little Mel Ott, Giants' outfielder and the batting hero of the first-game victory, tied a World Series record today when he collected four safe blows, including a homer, and drove across three of his team's four runs. Thirteen others, including Ty Cobb, Frank Frisch, Goose Goslin and Max Cary, have obtained four hits in a single game, but only three of them, Frisch, Goslin and Danny Murphy, of the Athletics, collected "four for four" as Ott did this afternoon.

The Bulldogs were able to go through the Red Devil line, but when they got through they were a little uncertain just what they were supposed to do. The Green Wave uses a system much different from the North Carolina State plays, which the Bulldogs had been practicing against until this week. The squad's bewilderment today was natural, but their experience today and a lecture tonight should have them stopping the Reds Wednesday.

Stribling enjoyed nothing more than "hanging around" with his friend, Foy Boone, who runs a pool room, or "chinning" with Roy Barrow at his filling station.

He could have lost 300 fights instead of $\frac{12}{2}\text{ out of 300 and still have been their hero.}

With them and with all others who knew Stribling well, it was not the power of his fists or the effectiveness of his technique but the simplicity of his nature that elevated him above the average.

From the day when a white-faced young schoolboy, he beat Jake Abel, the best lightweight in the south, on through those days when he hammered old Mike McTigue to his knees, until that sorrowful night when he took the beating—and the only knock-out—of his life, southerners followed his fortunes.

They marched with him to New York to watch him fight Berlenbach for a title, and sorrowfully retreated. They went with him to Maimi to watch him, under a moon-lif sky, lose a title hope to Jack Sharkey.

LIES IN STATE IN HOME TOWN

Thousands of Friends From All Walks of Life Pay Respects Today.

By Ralph McGill.

William Lawrence Stribling's body will lie in state today in the city auditorium at Macon, Ga., from 10 o'clock this morning until 6 o'clock

Final services will be held at o'clock Thursday afternoon. More than 10,000 people are expected to file through the building to pay tribute to the Georgia boy who rose to international prominence as a heavyweight fighter and who remained as a popular, interested citizen of his state and his city, a devoted father and husband and a devoted son of state and his city, a devoted father and husband and a devoted son of adoring parents.

He succumbed at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning following a crash between his motorcycle and an automobile at noon Sunday. His left foot was torn away. The handlebar of his machine was thrust into his body, breaking the pelvic bone and piercing a vital internal organ. When he was gone it was learned that he had never had a chance to recover.

DIED AS HE LIVED.

He died as he had lived, quietly and with his mother and father and his family about him. His was a fighting profession. Yet he was not a part of it. He was always young and timid and gay.

His life and that of his parents had been one of richness of experience and travel. When he was 12 years old he had seen most of the world. Yet he remained the home-town boy who liked the little town of Macou best of all. He always used to say of his trips abroad: "You know the prettiest thing I saw? The ticket back home."

The writer saw his parents yesterday in their home at Macon. It is look at Kentucky plays yesterday aft-

Georgia Tech's varsity had its first look at Kentucky plays yesterday afternoon in practice and found them rather difficult to stop.

Coach Alexander put the Jackets through a lengthy defensive scrimmage against the Freshmen and Grey Devils, armed with Wildeat formations as taught them by Scout Mack Tharpe, and they looked a bit ragged at times. The writer saw his parents yester-day in their home at Macon. It is a typical Georgia home. There are pictures of the boy everywhere. The home is comfortable and shows that its owners have loved it.

"Pa" and "Ma" Stribling are very brave, fine people; great in their honest sincerity. Their first son was their pride although they each lavished love on each other. But the first son

Lawrence Hays and Fritz Owens, Freshmen backs, made repeated runs through the Jacket defense for gains. This is often the case when a team has its first look at a strange offense and it will take the Jackets another scrimmage or so to get on to it.

Pee Wee Williams, the big right tackle, was the only varsity lineman who was particularly effective at stopping the Wildcat plays, standing out during the scrimmage in this respect. Williams, a junior, was Tech's outstanding line star in the game with was their pride.

WIDOW BRAVE.

The widow is brave. She is still at the Macon hospital, following the birth two weeks age of their third child, a son. The Striblings have always been able to take it. They were probably an enigma to some who could hardly believe that they could sit at their son's corner as he fought in the ring and still be gentle, kind and loving people.

And so it is no idle figure of speech to say that Macon is a sorrowing city. The final services were to have been held today. But so many people wanted to come to them from such far distances that they were delayed. And then, too, the city wanted to pay him honor.

There are men hurrying from New York and Chicago and from Florida and Texas and other sections of the west to be here Thursday to pay their respects to a good, clean boy.

TO REST ON HILL.

He will be buried on top of a windswept hill that overlooks the river. The hill may be seen from the front swept hill that overlooks the river. The hill may be seen from the front the Grey Devils today because of his kicking ability. Tech may have need of added punting strength in the Kentucky game, due to the ruggedness of the Wildcat line.

The squad will scrimmage hard again today, taper off Thursday and leave Friday for Lexington. There are men on injuries on the squad.

Dividend Declared. NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Directors of the American Smelting and Refining Company today declared a dividend of $1.75 on the first preferred stock. This is the first payment since June. 1932, when dividends on both classes of preferred stock were suspended.

DULL, IRREGULAR official Curb Exaded:

By BERNARD S. O'HARA. NEW YORK, Oct. 3. (P)-Dull and listless trading marked the curb session today. The list closed nar-rowly irregular after quietly backing and filling over a restricted area. Hiram Walker gained 11-2 points while General Tire & Rubber and Celanese first preferred advanced around 2 each. Parker Rust Proof and Great Atlantic & Pacific slipped around 4 points in inactive dealings while Aluminum Company of America and New York Shipbuilding were also reactionary.

Fractional changes marked utilities, metals and oils. American Light & Traction and Standard Oil of Kentucky eased a trifle. Transfers approximated 190,000 shares compared with 164,000 for yes-

Market Outlook

MAX BUCKINGHAM

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 .- (UP)-The extreme dullness of today's markettrading barely going over 900,000 shares with tickers idle at intervals permitted no definite trend for fore-

Hope for the future centered on a Hope for the future centered on a conference only a few miles from the trading center—the Roosevelt town house on 65th street. There the president conferred with Secretary of the Treasury Woodin and Governor George L. Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve bank. From this conference Wall Street expected some definition of the United States monetary policy which would end uncertainty and bring activity back into both share and commodity markets. IMPROVEMENT SEEN.

Even without this there were hopes that the dullness promised better markets. Many in the Street believed the dullness reflects completion of accumulation by strong hands who soon will start the market to boiling soon will start the market to boiling upward.

Some of the optimistic point to the credit expansion program as the nerve center which will direct business forward, claiming the program has not been sufficiently used yet to have shown the results of which it is capable.

On the pessimistic side for the immediate future—tomorrow particularly—was announcement by private groups of a steel output decrease, threatening foreign problems particularly regarding the French budget and war loans, and the continued reluctance of traders to start buying in the market.

Pools virtually are unheard of in the markets these days, only those of Commercial Solvents and Celanese having shown any life in the past week.

WALL STREET GOSSIP. WALL STREET GOSSIP.

The "Street" today talked about:
The report of United Fruit, which showed nine months' earnings of about 80 per cent greater than the corresponding months of 1932 . . . continued advices to watch the wheat market, which now is backing and filling along with the stock market . . reports Budd Manufacturing Company may profit by other railroads than the Union Pacific in putting out stream-lined trains . . . roads than the Union Pacific in putting out stream-lined trains . . .
railroad car loadings thus far reported showing mixed trend but advices from Washington indicating possibility of fare reductions. Great Northern reported an excellent showing since a 2-cent fare was established on certain classes of travel—reports through the Street that carpet companies were reporting good business . . . failure of wet stocks to show their customary pre-repeal vote strength on Virginia's pre-repeal vote strength on Virginia's voting today, although most issues did gain some. (Copyright, 1933, by the United Press.)

FURTHER GAIN SHOWN

IN PRICE OF RAW GOLD WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(R)—To-day's newly mined sold price was announced by the treasury as $32.12 an ounce, an increase of 24 cents as compared with yesterday's quetation and reflecting today's record prices on the London gold exchange.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—(P)—The price of gold rose today to a new world all-time record at 134 shillings eight fine ounce, or approximately $32.32 at par.

Brokers' Views

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER-Pending determination of a more definite trend of stock prices, we would favor se-lective purchases of stocks during periods

DOBBS & COMPANY-We should expect to see an advance on increasing the near future.

OUURTS & COMPANY—Our chart shows that we should show some recovery soon.

EEER & OOMPANY—Trading opportunities in markets, such as have been witnessed during the past few days, lie almost exclusively in a few special issues, such as mining, distilling and auto (Chrysler) stocks. Stocks.

LIVINGSTON & COMPANY—There is still too much uncertainty at the moment

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER—
We believe that adherence to the buying side will prove the best in the long run.
HUBBARD BROTHERS & CO. TO DOBBS & CO.—It can be safely said that the market is extremely steady and there seems no indication of any sharp setback at this time, but rather the market has been well ilquidated and could respond very quickly to any news of a bullish character.
COURTS & COMPANY—We do not look for much of a decline and believe purchases made on moderate setbacks will eventually prove profitable.

prices varied little, with business lacking volume.

Wheat closed easy, at the same as yesterday's finish to 3-8 lower; corn, 7-8 to 1 1-8 down; cats, 1-4 to 1-2 off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 35 cents.

Corn and oats prices reflected liberal country offerings of corn to arrive. The offerings were mainly from Iowa, where husking has started.

Provisions were responsive to an upward trend of hog values.

Raisor, of Louisville, Ky., driver of a truck which collided with the Hicks' car, is in the Cobb county jail, where he is being held pending the outcome of the injuries to Mr. and Mrs. Hicks. It was said Thesday at the hospital that Mr. Hicks had not regained consciousness and that hopes for his recovery were slight. Mrs. Hicks, though seriously hurt, is expected to recover.

The Atlantans were returning home from Cleveland, Tenn., where they had spent the week-end visiting relatives.

In the third place the guests had been asked to omit baby dresses, kimonos and baby sneques. Those gifts always come as a matter of course, after the baby arrives. Modern mothers put so few fancy dresses on babies that it seems foolish to invest much money in dainty things, beautiful as they are, which will never be worn.

When Nancy listed all the taboo articles as she gave the invitations the prospective guests wailed and spaid, "Yes, I know, Nancy, it's good sense and all that, but what can we

Cloudy and Cooler . Forecast for Today

Partly cloudy and slightly cooler weather today was predicted Tuesday by the weather bureau. No rain was in sight.

A temperature range of 56 to 70 degrees was anticipated today, compared with Tuesday's 62 to 72 degrees, which was decidedly the coolest day so far this fall. There was no rainfall. 10 wurtemberg El 18 '96. 38\frac{1}{2} 36\frac{1}{2} 38\frac{1}{2} \]

PRINCE OF SWEDEN
UNDERGOES OPERATION
STOCKHOLM. Sweden, Oct. 3.—
(2P)—Prince Charles, of Sweden, brother of King Gustaf, today underwent an operation for an abscess. Physicians said his condition was satisfactory.

The difficulties of luring capital into new enterprises when no one knows what kind of dollars he may stacles thorities as a forerunner of sustained business improvement. Inflation and a good market for bonds don't go together, however, and the talk of a huge federal refunding operation to save a big slice of the annual interest pay-

The bidding: (Figures after

North has a very fine hand, but I would prefer a bid of one spade. Certainly it is not strong enough for a bid of two no-trump.

South probably would be wiser to raise the two no-trump bid to three, and, as is obvious, this contract is easily made against any Opening lead whatever. In fact, against East's most natural lead—a small heart—five-odd will quite likely be made. However, South felt that he played the cards better than his partner and, after all, his bid offered a choice between a game contract in hearts and one in no-trump. Thus the bid on the greatly shaded suit is explained if not justified.

With only a doubleton diamond, the raise to game in hearts is quite obvious.

The only reason, as East afterward explained, that he did not double was that he did not articles as she gave the invitations the prospective guests wailed and said, "Yes, I know, Nancy, it's good sense and all that, but what can we give?"

Nancy suggested baby pillow cases. She wanted them of fine lawn with little embroidery or trimming on the top, especially near the center of the case. Heavy embroidery is rough for roseleaf skins. She told the women they could get the pillows with a hem and flange on the back. Under this flange went the washable buttons, he must lose a trick in a plain suit, he cannot be blamed for congratulating himself if he succeeds in making a contract of four-odd. Naturally, a contract such as this probably is not the ideal one in the combined hands. There is quite likely a safer road to game, and in the example given below a no-trump contract would have been more logical and corerct. However, bidding is only a prediction of the tricks obtainable in actual play and no player can be expected to be letter-perfect in the prediction he makes as to adverse distribution of a suit when his opponents refuse to aid him with any information, not even that of a Penalty Double of a contract they expect to defeat. The hand which called forth this comment is:

North and South vulnerable.

the raise to game in nearts is quite obvious.

The only reason, as East afterward explained, that he did not double was that he did not wish to disclose the trump situation as he felt sure that high honors in the trump suit were in the Dummy. A Double would not be such a bad gamble by a non-vulnerable player as apparently he has three tricks in the trump suit and thus his partner is required to take but one.

Nancy Has Fun Planning a Shower

By FLORENCE La GANKE.

Mrs. Lacey and Nancy were combining in an entertainment for Lois. She suggested a tray and bottles for eye wash, pledgets, sterilized was to cash the top tricks before East had an opportunity to discard, and then seek to make a small frump or two in the was to cash the top tricks before East had an opportunity to discard, and then seek to make a small frump or two in the case of the distinct of the plant of And then she added a Mother Goose book, not for the baby, but for Ann. If Lois could give Ann a present and say it came from the new sister or brother it might give the little girl a thrill.

East followed suit he breathed easier. He next played the Queen of diamonds and permitted it to hold. West winning with the King. West now returned a spade, which was won in the Dummy and a spade returned and trumped. East discarding a diamond. This really was in effect a species of Grand Coup as the spade chosen for trumping was the high card of the suit. The Dummy was re-entered by the return of a low diamond. Now the last club in Dummy was led and East, of course, was forced to trump. He played the Knave, shutting out the South hand, but thereafter could win but one more trump trick—namely.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

How far should East and West go in defending against a game bid by North and South on the hand below? South, Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—(P)—It was learned early today that Leopold Godowsky, noted Russian-Jewish pianist, is suffering from savage wounds inflicted by a dog from a passing automobile on Michigan

The attack occurred yesterday at Michigan avenue and Adams street as Godowsky was waiting for traffic to pass. An automobile turning south from Adams street passed close to him and as it did the dog thrust its head out of a rear window and bit the prantic in the feature.

and bit the pianist in the race.

The victim was taken to a nearby office building for medical attention, including the Pasteur antitoxin against rabies. He said he would fly to Rochester, Minn., today for additional treatment at the Mayo clinic. Meanwhile, the driver of the car, apparently unaware of the attack, continued on his way.

Dollfuss Only Slightly Hurt by Two Bullets. Gunman Is Arrested.

VIENNA, Oct, S.—(P)—The step-grandson of an emperor's dentist, wielding a dainty pearl-handled re-volver, came within an ace today of killing Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss and plunging Austrian and European politics into new and more dangerous confusion.

As it was, however, the two bullets from the gun of Rudolf Dertil, a former corporal in the Austrian army, only grazed the chancellor's left breast and wounded him slightly in the left arm. Dollfuss, after receiving treat-ment at a hospital, went home within an hour.

The question immediately asked;
"Was he a nazi?" still was not definitely answered tonight.
Socialist newspapers headlined the accusation that Dertil was a Hitlerite, while on the other hand the proDollfuss newspaper Weltblatt identified him as a member of the Schutzbund, the dissolved socialist military organization.

Not Determined.

Police late tonight again emphasized that the prisoner's political affiliation had not yet been determined, adding that the former corporal had voluntarily resigned from the army after three years of service.

Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss of Austria, whose height of 4 feet, 11 inches, has won him the nickname of "Our Little Napoleon" among his friends, was brought more prominently into the public eye by a series of internal and external political affairs which got under way last winter. Some of his enemies charged him with assuming the role of a dictator, an old accusation to the chancellor. Dollfuss, married and the father of a son, Rudolf, and a daughter, Eva, began his political career as the secretary of the lower Austrian peasants' league. He was appointed mininster of agriculture in the Buresch cabinet in March, 1931, advancing from this post to the chancellor's office.

His small stature did not prevent him serving 37 months at the front during the World War and winning an officers' commission.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(P)—
The interstate commerce commission today ordered that railroads carrying citrus fruit from points in Florida, Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi to destinations in the central and southern territories, which include Illinois, establish new rates for cars which carry a minimum of 39,960 pounds. The new rates will be based by taking the lowest rates applicable from any line or route from and to the same points, constructed on the basis of 12 cents per 100 pounds less than the rates now in effect.

The attack was staged at the entrance to the parliament building. Ass Dollfuss approached, Dertil moved up, apparently with the intention of handing him a manuscript. Police intervened, however, and seized the document. Thereupon the former corporal stepped back a few paces, drew his gun and fired.

The chancellor was rushed to the hospital, with Vice Chancellor Emil Fey in hot pursuit to learn the condition of his chief.

Police at once seized the assailant and seized his weapon, which they found to be a small pearl-bandled gun which had been loaded with only the two shells which hit Dollfuss.

Dertil said later that he had no intention to kill the chancellor, his only desire being "to attract attention to the man who just now would be the right man to participate in the lead ership of Austria."

Police questioned him closely as to the identity of this man, but he refused to explain the statement. He did deny, however, that he is a nazi.

Commercial League Organized Here

Formation of a fast Commercial league was assured at a special meeting of teams at Harbison, Griffin & Short Tuesday night.

Play in the league will start about the middle of November. Mike Hudson, representing Shell, entered a team in the play as did Willie O'Connor, former Boys' High star and with the championship Gulf team.

Fulton Bag also was represented and plans to get a team in at the next meeting. Gaylord, Federal Employes and A, & P. were also among the teams expected to send teams into the new organization. Dick Anchors represented Fulton Bag.

Gulf has been weakened by the loss of several of their best players. Several of their best players. Several vacancies still exist in the league are asked to get in touch with Harbison, Griffin & Short Sporting Goods store.

H. Ellsworth Vines Jr., whose dramatic collapse in the Davis cup matches against England was one of the high spots of a year of unusual play, was dropped all the way from first place in 1932 to fifth behind Frederick J. Perry, Jiro Satoh and Henry W. (Bunny) Austin.

Behind Vines, in order, come Henri Cochet, the No. 1 of 1931; Frank X. Shields, Sidney B. Wood, Baron Gott-fried Von Cramm, the German cham-pion, and Lester Stoefen. It was the worst showing of the United States in the last ten years.

Of last year's first ten four were dropped from the 1933 list—Wilmer Allison, Cliff Sutter, Daniel Prenn and Jean Borotra. Helen Jacobs, to whom Mrs. Moody

Helen Jacobs, to whom Mrs. Moody defaulted the finals of the United States title play, again is ranked second to her California neighbor, as she was last year, followed by Dorothy Round, of England; Hilda Krahwinkel, of Germany; Margaret Scriven, of England; Mme. Rene Mathieu, of France; Sarah Palfrey, Betty Nuthall, Mile. Lolette Payot, of Switzerland, and Alice Marble. The United States thus placed four players among the women also and, what is more, claimed the two leaders.

NATION HONORS YOUNG STRIBLING

"his splendid family life made him an example for others to follow."

Sharkey was apprised of Stribling's death at his hunting camp at Epping, N. H. "I am greatly grieved to hear of the death of Young Stribling," the former champion said. "He was one of the greatest boxers I ever met. I elass him with Charley Weinert, of Newark, N. J.

"In our bout at Miami Beach, Fla., Stribling proved he was able to punch as well as to box and he almost knocked me out with a right-hand punch to the jaw in the fourth round.

"I was fortunate to recover from the blow and to go on and win the decision. Stribling did much to help the boxing game. He was a clean living boy. His splendid family life made him an example for others to follow. I am particularly sorry for Young Stribling's wife, his three children and for his devoted mother and father."

On the Air Today

President Franklin D. Roosevelt will be heard in one of his rare visits to the microphone when he speaks at the opening dinner of the Catholic charities drive, in New York, from 8:30 to 9 o'clock tonight. Speaking in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria, the president will address the nation from coast-to-coast over the WABC-Columbia network and WGST.

Albert Spalding, America's foremost violinist, will make his debut on the new series of weekly broadcasts over WGST and a nation-wide Columbia network from 7:30 to 8 o'clock tonight. Co-featured with Spalding will be Conrad Thibault, young baritone, who has quickly risen to the front rank of radio performers, and Don Voorhees' orchestra.

Harry Richman and Milton Berle have been held over beyond their original one-month engagement and will appear with Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians over a nation-wide WABC-Columbia network and WGST from 9 to 9:30 o'clock tonight. Richman will commute by airplane from Chicago where he will be appearing nightly at the Chez Paris.

Georgia, Florida, Alabama Would Gain $4,000,000 on Increase.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 .- (A)-Farm Administrator George N. Peek Monday took up the cause of the peanut grower, whose product narrowly missed being listed as a basic agricultural product in the farm act during its consideration by congress last spring.

He requested peanut cleaners and shellers to increase prices to growers voluntarily over those now prevailing. On No. 1 Spanish peanuts, he asked that payments be boosted from $40 a ton to $60. He said this would increase the returns of peanut growers of Georgia, Alabama and Florida by almost $4,000,000. For No. 1 farmers' stock runners, he asked that prices be boosted to $55 a ton with comparable price increases for other varieties and grades. The marketing season, in Virginia and North Carolina will not begin for several weeks, he said.

Peck also said that his organiza-

Peek also said that his organiza-tion and the Reconstruction Finance tion and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation are investigating possibilities of a plan which would "permit peanut growers to borrow against peanuts stored in bonded warehouses pending sale of their stock."

He also disclosed that a program for cutting produuction and supplies of peanuts is being formulated for application in 1934.

Chamberlain, at Bankers' Dinner, Backs Old Methods in Recovery Drive.

LONDON. Oct. 3.— (UP) — A scathing reply to demands that Great Britain adopt United States NRA methods for restoring prosperity was made by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, in a speech at the annual bankers' dinner for the lord mayor of London at Mansion House tonight.

The wire iron-gray chancellor in

The wiry, iron-gray chancellor in characteristically biting fashion ridiculed labor party suggestions that the government attack the depression with

"new weapons."

"They call for abandonment of orthodox methods." Chamberlain said, "and require that we adopt in public affairs imaginative finance—although of course in private finance it generally goes by a much less agreeable title."

Chamberiain criticized the laborites for their attitude, adding:

"It may be all very well for those who have no responsibility for what may follow, but for an old country like this whose roots have extended to the uttermost parts of the earth, such a government must be very sure the old principles really have failed before abandoning them and new experiments really are likely to succeed before we embark on them." Robert Troutman, Atlanta attorney, will discuss legal matters affecting real estate at the real estate board meeting at the Ansley hotel today at 12:30 o'clock. The board's luncheous, beginning today, will be held henceforth at the Ansley hotel.
